Objective	To encourage students towards Entrepreneurship and to understand the significance of ethics and the role that entrepreneurs play in developing an ethical and responsible organization.This framework should be in line with the startups' values and business objectives for the students and others. To protect their interests and maintain moral workplace standards, startups must abide by tax and employment legislation. To comply with legal requirements, startups must get licenses and permissions. Industry-specific laws reduce risks and maximize operational effectiveness.
Brief Report	The Institution's Innovation Council at Mangalmay Institute of Engineering and Technology, situated in Greater Noida, has planned a session on 7 May 2024 on the topic of the Legal Structure and Ethical steps involved in Establishing Startups. Launching a firm necessitates meticulous examination of legal frameworks and ethical values to guarantee adherence, safeguard stakeholders, and promote enduring viability. Dr. Ajay Pratap Singh (Director IQAC MIMT), gave the motivational talk regarding the fast-paced world of business, startups have to follow the law and moral principles. A business needs to successfully navigate this complicated terrain in order to survive, making sure that rules are followed, everyone's interests are protected, and moral principles are maintained. Organization Legal: ensuring compliance with laws and guidelines Startups create a strong legal structure to guarantee adherence to regulations. The principal phases are: To formally create their corporate entity, startups must register with the appropriate authorities. Both operational validity and legal recognition officially begin at this point. To protect their interests and maintain moral workplace standards, startups must abide by tax and employment legislation. Patents, trademarks, and copyrights are essential for startups to protect their discoveries and prevent unlawful use. Moral Behavior: Honesty and accountability Beyond merely adhering to the law, startups should build ethical practices that foster trust and guarantee long-term success. Important moral actions:

Creating moral standards: Robust ethical guidelines that are congruent with the principles of the startup enable moral decision-making and encourage conscientious behavior. Ethical responsibility is ensured by conducting a stakeholder impact assessment, which enables the assessment of how business decisions affect community members, consumers, and employees. Ethics strengthens reputation and builds trust, forging long-lasting bonds with stakeholders and enhancing the legitimacy of brands.

Legal Entity:

1. Enrolling the company entity to adhere to legal obligations.
2. Acquiring essential licenses and permits.
3. Adherence to tax, employment, and intellectual property legislation.
4. Overseeing obligations and safeguarding intangible assets.

Ethical Procedures:

1. Establishing ethical principles that are in accordance with the startup's core ideals.
2. Evaluating the ramifications of business actions on stakeholders.
3. Establishing trust and cultivating a positive reputation by adhering to ethical principles.
4. Incorporating ethical principles into the organizational culture.

Feedback Link : <https://forms.gle/z68DoEAHToRvbQ3XA>

There is lunch/Snacks provided by the institution after the session
All the participants honored by the participation certificate

Outcome

1. Students and others understand the Startups, which lay a strong groundwork for expansion and minimize risks by giving top priority to adhering to legal requirements and ethical conduct from the very beginning, all while maintaining moral ideals.
2. Students have gained an in-depth understanding about the ethical dilemmas and legal issues that might arise in establishing startup.
